Mini moment 1 - Word Bathing

When we say the words each day, we wake up the Magic Mustard Tin.

Get-up, stand-up vocabulary	Definition	Action
curious	Wanting to know more about something.	Cup your hands around your eyes like you're peeking inside a house.
cottage	A small, cosy house in the woods.	Make a roof shape over your head with your hands.
porridge	Warm, soft oats that you eat for breakfast.	Pretend to eat a bowl of porridge with a spoon.
empty	Nothing inside.	Hold your hands out in front of you and then shrug your shoulders.
broken	Something this is not working or in pieces.	Hold your hands together, then pull them apart as if snapping something.
comfortable	Feeling nice, warm and relaxed.	Hug yourself and smile like you're snuggled in a soft bed.
wander	To walk around without knowing exactly where you are going.	Slowly sway side to side while taking tiny steps.
discover	To find something new.	Point to something imaginary on the floor as if you have just found it.

This fascinating new conjunction I have found is the word 'because'. Because is used to give a reason for something. I like reading your sentences because they are fantastic! I have sent you a book about a little girl who goes into a house and tries some porridge, some chairs, and some beds.... Do you know what the story might be? Well done, it's Goldilocks! I can't wait to read your sentences using because to explain why Goldilocks does and doesn't like the things in the story! Have fun writing and don't forget to write because in your sentences to give a reason! From Professor Klunk".
